Restaurant Featuring Mediterranean Food Set for Palmer Sq.

The question of what kind of restaurant would replace the Canton Grill on Hulfish Street and what type of shop would open in the former Ann Taylor store on Palmer Square West has been answered with an announcement by Palmer Square Management.

Mediterra, a restaurant featuring Mediterranean cuisine, is scheduled to open in October in the former Canton Grill. It is the third restaurant project in Princeton by brothers Carlo and Raoul Momo, owners of Teresa's Pizzetta Caffe who made their first entry into town in 1988 with Pizza Colore on Nassau Street.

Also in October, Simon Pearce, a store selling handmade glass, hand-thrown pottery, and Charles Schackleton furniture will open in the former Ann Taylor store.

All the items for sale are made in Vermont, where Simon Pearce has his main retail store (and restaurant) in the village of Quechee.

Mediterra will offer the cuisines of Spain, France, and Italy. Entrees are expected to be priced at around $15.

The Momo brothers expect to make good use of the patio on Hulfish Street, which offers a fine view into Palmer Square. They will set it as a European-style outdoor cafe, complete with small tables, tablecloths, and umbrellas. A trio of musicians is also a possibility.

Inside the 5,000-square-foot restaurant will be a Tapas bar offering such foods as stuffed mushrooms, calamari, and grilled shrimp. Attached to this will be the beverage bar, which will feature beer, liquor, and wine.

Simon Pearce, a designer and blower of crystal, established his own workshop in Kilkenny, Ireland, in 1970.

Governing Bodies Hear Report of Library Needs

Much of the first row at last Tuesday night's joint Borough Council/Township Committee meeting was taken up by members of the Public Library's board of trustees. They were there in support of the Library and of its director, Jacqueline Thresher, as she made a presentation to the governing bodios.

The presentation had been requested in order to give the two municipalities information about the library that would help in developing the 1996 budget. But to many at the meeting the real concern was when would the Borough and Township end the impasse over library expansion.

This surfaced at the end of Ms. Thresher's well-received presentation, when Library board of trustees' president Harry Levine said it had been ten months since a consultant had confirmed the need for a larger library, "yet nothing has happened." Inflation and delay, he said, have probably added another $350,000 to the $12 million that had been estimated as the cost of expansion.

The delay has also made it more difficult to raise private money for the expansion, said Mr. Levine, who urged the municipalities to "put the project on track, resolve your differences, and resolve them quickly."

"We are having ongoing discussions and making progress with these discussions," said Township Mayor Michele Tuck. "We are trying to respond to the needs of the library and the needs of the taxpayers."

Accessibility to the library and cost-sharing are the major roadblocks for the Borough and Township as they try to move forward on this issue. The subcommittees that have been meeting on the library questions include, for the Borough, Mayor Marvin Reed,

Princeton on Route of Olympic Torch Relay

It's official: next summer, before the 1996 Olympic Games begin in Atlanta, Princeton will be one of the many towns in the United States touched by the Olympic flame. The symbolic flame, in the form of a torch carried by a series of runners, will make an 84-day trip across the country, beginning in Los Angeles on April 27, and concluding in Atlanta on July 19.

Princeton will see the flame on June 18, Day 53 of the relay. It will travel down Route 206, from Basking Ridge, and will continue through the Township, into the Borough, and on through the Township again, into Lawrenceville.

In a brief ceremony in front of Borough Hall on Monday morning, Borough Mayor Marvin Reed and Township Mayor Michele Tuck accepted a specially-designed Torch Relay flag, which will fly alternately outside Borough and Township halls.

The flag was presented by Craig Lafferty, president of the United Way of Greater Mercer County, James Jeffers and Len Erlanger, representatives of Coca-Cola, the event sponsor.

Torch carriers will be selected by the United Way, and will constitute a group of what Mr. Lafferty called "local heroes." Each of the runners will carry the torch for approximately one kilometer, or six-tenths of a mile.

Mayor Reed stressed Princeton's historic connection to the Olympic Games, and expressed his pleasure at Princeton's being chosen as a stop on the route of the torch.

"The original Olympic team was overloaded with Princeton graduates and students.

Township Woman Reports Abduction and Robbery By Knife-Wielding Man

A Township woman reported to police that an unknown man forced her from her bed at knifepoint early Sunday morning and compelled her to withdraw money from various automatic teller machines before he returned her home unharmed.

According to police reports, the victim claims that she was in her bed, awake, at approximately 4:30 a.m. when a man entered her bedroom.

He had a knife, and he forced her out of bed, saying that he wanted money. She gave him some cash that she kept in the bedroom, but he was not satisfied.

He made her get her car keys, and drive him to several bank machines in the area, where she says she withdrew money and gave it to him.

He then allowed her to drive home, where he released her, unharmed, at about 5:30 a.m. The perpetrator fled on foot.

Library

Councilman Mark Freda, and Administrator Tom Shannon; and, for the Township, Mayor Tuck, Councilwoman Sharon Bilanin, and Administrator James Pascale.

In providing information for the 1996 budget, Ms. Thresher told the two governing bodies that the Library will begin asking for three new positions in 1996. These are a full-time technology specialist, half-time technology librarian/half-time reference librarian; and full-time community relations specialist.

She also outlined a $275,900 capital budget for next year, which includes $150,000 for replacement or retrofit of the heating, ventilating, and air conditioning unit; $34,500 for furniture and furnishings, including a new modular circulation desk; $25,000 for building repairs; and $20,000 for a value card system for equipment used by the public.

The director drew a picture of a library that needs an infusion of books and audiovisuals, and one that is constrained by budget and staffing. "Less than four percent of the collection is refreshed each year; this is not enough," she said.

Committeeman Carl Mayer asked Ms. Thresher if it would be useful for the Library to direct people to those Princeton University libraries that are open to the public.

"University libraries have a different mission," she replied. "They are research libraries and aren't interested in providing staff support. I don't think even the use of Firestone would solve anything."

Councilwoman Sandra Starr asked whether Ms. Thresher had looked at using school libraries as a way to augment resources.

"It always comes up, and it never works anywhere," she responded. "There is no school library I know of in New Jersey that is open after school." She added, however, that she would bring the question to the Library board of trustees.

More Tapes, CDs, Videos

The library director would like to see a substantial expansion in the number of audiocassettes, compact discs, and videos, and wants to develop a circulating collection of children's compact discs.

The book collection areas she would like to increase include the science section of the adult reference collection; the technology sections of the adult circulating collection; the teen paperback collection; the children's reference collection; the children's magazine collection; and the Spanish-language adult and children's collection.

A touch of poignancy in her voice, she told the governing bodies that the Library would "love to have the remarkable new 32-volume, $9,000, Encyclopedia of Art."

Ms. Thresher's presentation included a number of indictors of library use in 1994, such as, an average of 1,100 people per day used the library; 321,437 books and visual items were loaned to borrowers (two times the average per capita circulation for public libraries in the State); 42,321 reference questions were answered by the Information Services staff; 17,402 questions were answered by the Youth Services staff; approximately 20,400 searches of computerized data bases were conducted in response to library users' questions; an average of 18 adult learners met with trained volunteer literacy tutors weekly; 5,184 people attended 261 library programs; and 203,964 photocopies were made on library copiers.

Robbery

According to the victim, the perpetrator is a black man, in his late 20's or early 30's. He was wearing hospital scrub-type clothing. He apparently gained access to the victim's house by forcing open a rear window.

The Township Police Department was extremely sparing in the amount of information they made available. The victim was not identified, nor was her approximate address. She lives, they said, in the vicinity of Littlebrook School.

They would not disclose the amount of money that was stolen, or the location of the cash machines that were visited.

Anyone with information about the crime is asked to contact Detective Ernie Silagyi, of the Township Police, at 921-2100. All information will be kept confidential.

Revised Faculty Housing for Hun School Approved Over Objections of Neighbors

When Hun School received approval in August, 1990 to build four units of faculty housing in a single 9,000-square-foot prefabricated building in a wooded area along the driveway leading to its gymnasium, there was little comment from the public.

The next door neighbor, William Crothers, wrote the board at the end of July asking to have the hearing postponed because he would be away. His letter was received the day before the hearing and is the only indication in the Planning Board files that there might have been any objection. Only eight members of the board were present that night, and all voted in favor of the site plan.

Approval of the memorialization of the findings of fact was delayed pending review by the landscape subcommittee of the landscape plans. Last December, with the clock running out on the approval period, Hun School applied for a one-year time extension, which was granted unanimously.

Last Thursday, the Planning Board held a hearing on the school's revised plan to create two individual buildings in place of the single building. The two would not be prefabricated and would have five units instead of four. The school attorney, Richard Goldman, and the architect, Jeremiah Ford, evidently thought the revised plans were such an improvement over the previously approved multi-family building that they would be easily approved.

According to Mr. Ford, the amount of impervious coverage would be reduced under the revised plan and the variances requested for setbacks, parking and permission to build on a slope would not be "worsening" site conditions to any greater degree than under the approved plan. Mr. Ford said the school had been "troubled" by the pre-fab method of construction that had been chosen originally and had rethought the mix of units need.

He told the Planning Board that specimen trees had not been properly located on the original plan and said that a long building facing the slope "was not wise from a drainage point of view."

Amended Plan

The original plan called for two units containing three bedrooms and two containing four. The amended plan keeps the two three-bedroom units in one building, and puts three units, two with two bedrooms and one with one bedroom, in the other building.

The gross floor area for both buildings in the new plans is 11,143 square feet, 2,143 more than the original plan, but the building coverage is 2,000 square feet less. Mr. Ford said the two buildings would be about the same size as the houses in the neighborhood and would be visually more compatible than the original proposal, which he characterized as looking like a barracks.

Ten parking spaces are required. The new plan calls for bulging the driveway to the gym a few feet in two places in front of the new residences to create five parallel spaces, one for each unit. Five additional spaces would be reserved in the 89-space park-

MDTs Worry Councilman

Councilman Roger Martindell was expected to discuss his concerns about the use of Mobile Data Terminals (MBTs) by the Borough Police at the Tuesday, January 26, meeting of Borough Council.

Installed in Borough police vehicles, the MDT allows officers to quickly gain access to driving records. Its use has led to a significant increase in the number of motor vehicle violations issued for driving without a license and for driving with a suspended or revoked license.

In the first five months of 1995, Borough police officers issued 188 summonses for driving with a suspended or revoked license, compared with 64 during the same period last year. Summonses for driving without a license rose from 28 to 58 during this same period.

Acknowledging that the computer is a very impressive law enforcement tool, Councilman Roger Martindell said that, because of its power, it can be abused to keep track of certain elements of the population.

Police Chief Thomas Michaud said the Department does not engage in "profiling"; that is, the targeting of certain groups of people because of their appearance, gender, or race.

"I am not saying there is any abuse now," said Mr. Martindell. But he said there exists a danger of abuse because there are no state laws or local guidelines about the use of the MDT. "There is no system to determine if it's being abused now, no recording or reporting."

He voiced concern that the police could pick a neighborhood and check the driver's license and criminal history of people entering its streets.

The MDT can be used to access criminal histories, although this access is restricted unless an officer believes the driver of the car is a suspect in a crime.

"The MDT has no more potential for abuse than anything else a police officer does," said Chief Michaud. "The police officer has a wide range of legal authority, and there is the possibility of abuse in anything an officer does."

He said he has talked to his officers about profiling and that he is not aware of any problem.

"The MDT enables us to identify more people who are breaking the law," said Chief Michaud. "That's our job. Some people miss that point."

ing lot in front of the gym.

The original approval proposed four parking spaces perpendicular to the driveway at each end of the multi-family building, an arrangement which would have required banking up more earth fill than the parallel spaces require. Some Planning Board members, knowing that neighbors had expressed concern that the five spaces along the edge of the driveway would narrow the access for emergency vehicles, suggested that all 10 spaces be provided in the lot by the gym, but Mr. Ford pointed out that unless the residents had some convenient ready-made parking, they would park to unload groceries at the edge of the roadway, narrowing emergency access that everyone was concerned about.

No Consultation

The application was viewed as an amendment to the previously approved plan, and the neighbors were not consulted in advance. During the public hearing it was clear that they had many concerns in regard to parking in the neighborhood and screening of the existing buildings.

Primarily they were concerned about the parking that backs up onto both sides of Winant Road during home athletic contests and when there are major events like alumni day and graduation. Joseph Kossow, 152 Winant Road, said that during athletic events Winant Road becomes a one-lane road with cars parked on both sides, creating ruts in the lawns of abutting homeowners. He said he was concerned that the displacement of 10 parking spaces from the gym lot would aggravate the situation.

Mr. Kossow said the school should be required to accommodate all cars coming to its activities on its own property. Mr. Ford said the school was very aware of the parking problem and would be addressing it through a master plan for the campus that his firm had been engaged to undertake.

Some of the neighbors were concerned that a swatch of woods on the north side of the proposed faculty housing would suffer bulldozing because of a notation as to the "line of disturbance" on the plans. The notation was in error, Mr. Ford said, adding that the area of disturbance would be kept close to the proposed buildings and care would be taken to select a contractor who would control the siuation.

John Reilly, 133 Winant Road, said, "This is a wooded area, and it is the woods that attracted people to it." Mr. Reilly also expressed concern that in doing master planning for its campus, Hun would be coming back to the board for what he characterized as "piecemeal additions."

No Expansion Plans

Mr. Goldman tried to assure him and the Planning Board that Hun School does not plan to extend its enrollment beyond 500 students, a number that has remained steady for some time. He said Hun occupied a very tight space with very little room for expansion and whatever expansion took place would be in terms of expanded facilities.

Virginia Dingwell, 629 Princeton-Lawrenceville Road, said the revised plan was an improvement over the previous one, but she was concerned that when the new sewer line was installed several years ago, many trees were cut down that screened the school from neighbors across the Stony Brook. She asked that this aspect be reviewed after construction was completed.

The abutting homeowner at 166 Winant Road said she was relieved to know that disturbance would be limited to the area around the two buildings and not involve woods which she clearly felt were an extension of her property. But she warned that merely putting up signs designating the proposed parking spaces for Hun School faculty would not work, because people looking for parking spaces "tend to take matters into their own hands."

Marion Levy, emeritus Princeton professor and a longtime Russell Road resident, criticized the school sternly for not having notified the neighbors of the plans. "There is a problem here," Prof. Levy said. He said the school should provide notice of its future intentions in writing.

Borough Mayor Marvin Reed, a Planning Board member, suggested that the school should have made subdivision of this particular lot a part of the application so that the faculty housing could be on the tax rolls. Chairman William Enslin apologized to the neighbors that they were not consulted about the revision in advance.

Alain Kornhauser said the oversight troubled him, and when the vote came, he voted against approval. The other nine members present voted to approve.

BIRDS IN YOUR GARDEN

Once Blue Jays were birds of the wild forests, but now live in cities and towns or wherever shade trees are available for nesting. They are found throughout the U.S. east of the Rockies. Most are year-round residents, although some may migrate to the southern part of their range.

An opportunistic and omnivorous feeder, the blue jay's diet includes seeds, fruits, insects and small animals — from hazelnuts and apples to grasshoppers and frogs. Pairs share in nest building between March and July, raising from three to five young. During courting and incubating period, the male feeds his mate, and will continue to do so as long as she sits on the nest.

ed for Tuesday night, July 25.

The Board was planning to interview three finalists for the position in closed session, and to follow this in open session with the appointment of a successor to Charles Huchet. Forty-three applications were received for the position.

There were 77 applicants for the position of high school assistant principal. One was internal and the rest were from outside the District.

The applications were evaluated by a committee led by High School Principal Leigh Byron. Members included teachers, support staff, students, parents, community members, and members of the central administration.

The agenda for the July 25 meeting also included further discussion of the decision to add a total of nine multigrade classrooms at the elementary schools. Littlebrook Principal Bob Ginsberg and Johnson Park Principal John Kazmark were expected to outline to the School Board their reasons for creating multigrade classes.

A letter signed by 34 parents [see Mailbox, page 19] objects to a 2-3 multi-age class structure for all third-grade students at Littlebrook School, and requests the option of regular third grade classes.

The addition of multi-age classrooms is one made by school administration. It does not require approval by the School Board.

Settlement Is Reached With P'ton Univ. Press

Another property is being removed from the Borough's tax rolls as a result of an agreement reached between the Borough and Princeton University Press.

The Press, located at 41 William Street, two years ago had applied for exemption from paying property tax on the grounds that it is exclusively organized, and the property is actually used, for the moral and mental improvement of men, women and children.

The settlement, which was reached before the case went to Tax Court, requires the Borough to immediately remove the property, which is assessed at $1.2 million, from its tax rolls.

The Press agrees to make a payment in lieu of taxes for 15 years in an amount equal only to the local municipal portion of its taxes, excluding the school and property tax.

In 1994, the Press paid $42,480 in municipal tax, which is equal to one tax point. It will pay $11,000 a year in lieu of taxes for the next 15 years.

Beginning in 2010, the amount paid by the Press will decrease 20 percent a year. By 2015, it will no longer have any in lieu of tax obligations.

The number of tax-exempt properties in the Borough continues to rise, and now amounts to slightly more than half the tax base of the municipality.

PU Buildings Evacuated During Poison Gas Scare

Hundreds of people were evacuated and 17 were taken to the hospital following the accidental release of poisonous chlorine gas in the basement of Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson School for Public and International Affairs last Wednesday morning.

None of the victims were seriously injured, said police, but the turmoil caused by the evacuation and the subsequent wait for confirmation that no stragglers had been overcome by the gas caused a few hours of anxiety.

SUITING UP: Rescue workers and members of Hazmat teams put on protective clothing last Wednesday, responding to the release of dangerous chlorine gas in the basement of the Woodrow Wilson School. Hundreds of people were evacuated from the building, but no serious injuries were reported.

The trouble began shortly before 9 a.m. According to police reports, the gas was released by the accidental combination of two chemicals commonly used in the maintenance of the fountain on campus.

Apparently, workers employed by White House Chemical Supply, of Hamilton, poured a quantity of hydrochloric acid into a vat containing chlorine concentrate.

The resultant mixture immediately began to emit a thick, noxious chlorine gas. Exposure to such gas is potentially fatal to humans.

The gas began to circulate throughout the building and three connected buildings, moving through the ventilation system.

The University's Department of Public Safety immediately began to evacuate the affected buildings, as the Borough police and fire departments arrived on the scene.

The Wilson School is on the northeast corner of the intersection of Washington Road and Prospect Avenue. Police cordoned off the area surrounding the school, as rescue teams from neighboring towns filtered into the area.

Hazardous materials (Hazmat) teams from West Windsor and Hamilton, as well as rescue squads and a Department of Environmental Protection emergency response team all responded to the emergency.

Officials were originally worried that some occupants of the building might have been overcome by the gas and been unable to escape, but their fears were allayed at 1:30 p.m., when it was announced that the building had been cleared.

Fire Department fans expelled the smoke from the building while the Hazmat teams removed the vat of smoke-producing chemicals.

All of the 17 people treated for respiratory irritation at Princeton Medical Center were released that day. Two others were treated at the scene.

Traffic Clogging Roads For Morning Commute

If stress truly does shorten your life span, then morning commuters in the Princeton area should start putting relaxation tapes in their car stereos.

Traffic on Route 206, Mercer Road, and University Place has been horrific of late, and there appears to be no end immediately in sight.

According to Lieutenant Anthony Federico, of the Borough Police Department, most of the trouble stems from construction projects on Route 1, but there are other factors as well.

"Construction between Meadow Road and Quaker Road on Route 1 is causing tremendous backups there," he said. As a result, radio traffic reports have been suggesting Route 206 and Princeton Pike (Mercer Street) as alternates.

Bad enough? It gets worse. Last week, Rosedale Road, which handles some of the traffic between the Hopewell-

Lawrenceville area, and Princeton, was being closed for road work in the mornings, shunting even more traffic onto the already overburdened Route 206.

For extra effect, Faculty Road is also closed between Alexander Street and Washington Road, assuring that even more motorists jam the western end of town in the morning.

A drive down 206 South last week found traffic backed up as far as the entrance to Washington Oaks as late as 9:35 a.m. Commuters from Lawrenceville are reporting waits as long as 45 to 50 minutes.

Lieutenant Federico said that the Rosedale Road closings should have ended by Wednesday morning, but he warned that the Route 1 construction will continue, in various phases, for as long as three years.

Recordings of light rain showers and waves on the ocean are reputed to be quite soothing, by the way.

Princeton Police Report Two Lewdness Incidents

Princeton Township and Borough each had an incident of lewdness to report this week.

According to Township police, a 42-year-old woman on Snowden Lane was victimized by a man whom she allowed into her home to make a phone call. The incident occurred at approximately 4:10 p.m. on July 15.

Police said that the victim was taking in mail for a neighbor who was away, when a man in a Toyota pickup truck pulled into the driveway and asked where her neighbors were.

She told him that they were away, and he continued to ask questions regarding their time of return. He also asked if he could use her telephone to make a call.

She allowed him into the house, and he sat down to use the phone. When he finished, the victim reported, he stood up, and she saw that he had lowered his pants, exposing himself to her.

He then left the house and drove off in his truck. The victim described him as a white male, about 5'8 with a receding hairline. He wore dark glasses and blue jeans.

The second incident took place in the Princeton Public Library, between 3:10 p.m. and 3:16 p.m. last Thursday.

The victim stated that she was in the library looking at poetry books when she was approached by the suspect. He is a white man, between 20 and 30 years old, with dark hair. He was wearing a white shirt and white shorts with red trim.

The man approached her and exposed himself to her, said the victim. She moved away from him, but he followed and did the same thing again. At that point the victim went to the librarians' desk, and the suspect fled out the front door.

He was last seen fleeing, on foot, through the Spring Street Park and Shop lot.

Citizenship Classes Free for Hispanics

Free classes covering U.S. government and history for Spanish speakers who have U.S. residency and a green card continue under the sponsorship of Princeton's Latin American Task Force and the group Apoyo/Liga para los Derechos de Inmigrantes.

Designed to cover the questions and concepts that arise during the examination of citizenship applicants by the Immigration and Naturalization Service, the classes are conducted in Spanish and English by specialists from both sponsoring organizations. The program continues throughout the summer with the cooperation of the Princeton Public Library.

The Sunday schedule is, July 30, August 13 and 27, at 4:30 p.m. in the basement of St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church, corner of Nassau and Moore streets. The class ends at 6 p.m.

Local residents are welcome to attend and learn together about the United States.

Cars Stolen and Burgled

Police reported two car thefts from the Washington Oaks development, and a number of car break-ins in both the Borough and Township.

Township police reported that between 9 p.m. on July 18 and 6:40 a.m. the next morning, two cars were stolen from driveways in the Washington Oaks Development.

A 1992 Honda valued at $12,000 was stolen from a Leicester Court home, and a 1991 Honda valued at $8,000 was taken from a Benjamin Rush Lane home.

Both vehicles were later recovered in Trenton.

During the same time period, someone attempted to break into a 1993 Mazda parked on Neill Court, but no entry was gained.

Property valued at $475 was stolen from a parked Jeep Cherokee on Friday between 1:55 p.m. and 2:55 p.m. The vehicle was parked on Henry Avenue when the front passenger-side window was shattered.

Removed from the Jeep were a cellular phone, and a radar detector.

Borough police reported a criminal attempted burglary of a vehicle parked behind the Merwick Rehabilitation Center on Bayard Lane.

Someone tried to pry open the locks on a 1990 Mazda, but was unsuccessful. The attempt occurred between 8:45 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. on Monday.

A Bank Street resident who left his 1993 Mercury unlocked on Friday between 2 p.m. and 3:06 p.m. reported the theft of $698 worth of property.

Removed from the car were a briefcase, a cellular phone, a 2½" television, sunglasses, and other personal belongings.

Two Adult Men Arrested For Giving Minors Beer

Borough police arrested two men and a number of juveniles this week, after the men were seen supplying the youths with alcoholic beverages.

Police saw Martin P. Kinney 23, of no known address, exit a Witherspoon Street liquor store shortly after 9:30 p.m. on July 21. He was carrying a bottle of beer, which he took with him to Palmer Square. When he arrived, he gave the beer to a 15-year-old girl, who began to drink it.

Officers placed both under arrest, Mr. Kinney for providing alcohol to a minor and the girl for juvenile delinquency.

In a separate incident, Shane Silva of New Bedford, Mass., was charged with the same offense.

Mr. Silva, a 21-year-old Princeton University student, purchased two 36-ounce bottles of beer from a Nassau Street liquor store at 10:17 p.m. on Saturday. He gave the beer to three juveniles waiting outside the store, and all four were placed under arrest by an officer who observed the scene.

The youths, a 16- and a 17-year-old from the Borough, and a 16-year-old Township resident, were charged with juvenile delinquency.

Youths with Drugs, Knives

A citizen's reporting the smell of burning marijuana to a Borough police officer resulted in the arrest of six juveniles and the confiscation of numerous weapons.

A patrol officer was notified by a passing citizen that the odor of burnt marijuana was emanating from the back of a house on Wiggins Street. The officer investigated, and found six young men in the back yard, smoking the drug.

Arrested were three Township residents, aged 14, 15, and 16; two borough residents, both 15; and one 15-year-old resident of St. Louis, Mo.

The investigation revealed that the suspects were in possession of a collection of dangerous weapons, including "butterfly" knives, throwing stars, and razor blades.

They were charged with possession of marijuana, in an amount under 50 grams, possession of weapons, and being in possession of a controlled dangerous substance.

They were released to their parents, and the matter was referred to the juvenile officer.

Broadmead Is Trashed; Criminals Make Mischief

Vandals went to great lengths to damage the Broadmead Swim Club last week. Between 9 p.m. on July 20 and 9 a.m. the next morning, various objects belonging to the club were broken and thrown into the pool.

Police reported that stacks of chairs, umbrellas, two picnic tables, and six full trash cans were thrown into the pool. In addition, part of the cabana was destroyed and thrown into the pool. Wooden boards were torn from the tables before they were [illegible]

Police reported that a large amount of grafitti was drawn on the rear of 32 Nassau Street and the rear of 45-47 Palmer Square West. Both buildings are close to each other, on the John Street alley between Nassau and Hulfish Streets.

The damage was done between 5 p.m. on Friday and 8 a.m. on Monday. The walls were marked with blue and black ink.

A Jefferson Road resident reported an act of criminal mischief on Friday at 11:25 p.m. The homeowner told police that an unidentified person walked down the sidewalk in front of the victim's house, and tore pieces from a wooden fence on the property.

An estimate of the damage was not available.

The Unlucky and Unwise Arrested with Marijuana

A Brooks Bend man had the misfortune to resemble the suspect in a theft being investigated by the police on the evening of July 20. Although he had nothing to do with the theft, 20-year-old Alexander Luton found himself under arrest for possession of marijuana.

He was stopped by officers at 9:45 p.m. because he answered the description of the suspect for whom they were looking. A search of Mr. Luton's belongings revealed a small amount of marijuana, and a pipe used for smoking the drug. He was released on his own recognizance.

A patrol officer spotted a car driving erratically last Friday evening at 9:21 p.m., and recognized the driver as 25-year-old Jason Page of 181 Spruce Circle, whose license he knew to be revoked.

He stopped the car, and placed Mr. Page under arrest for suspicion of driving while intoxicated. Mr. Page, the officer would learn later, was also wanted on a warrant from the County Sheriff's Department.

At that point, the officer spotted the passenger, Steven M. Taber, 22, of Greenville, South Carolina, trying to place something beneath the seat of the car.

The officer asked Mr. Taber what the object was, and Mr. Taber told him that it was a case for his sunglasses. To demonstrate, he pulled the glasses from the ease.

Unfortunately for Mr. Taber, dangling from the frame of the glasses was a plastic baggie filled with what appeared to be marijuana. He too was arrested, and was charged with possession of a controlled dangerous substance.

Two men who decided to smoke marijuana in the very public environs of the Woodrow Wilson fountain off Washington Road were arrested on Sunday.

A Borough patrol officer came upon them, saw them smoking, and placed them under arrest. A search revealed a bag of the drug in the possession of 20-year-old Kyoung Kang, of Claremont, Calif. He and 19-year-old Karle Durante, of Reston, Va., were both charged with possession of marijuana.

In addition, Mr. Kang was found to be wanted in the Borough on a $250 warrant for a different offense.

Fraud, Assault, Forgery...

A Princeton University student reported that between June 1 and June 30, her credit card was stolen and was fraudulently used to charge $1,200 worth of merchandise. She was not aware of the theft until her bill arrived in July.

Police said that she believed the card to have been stolen in the University Student Center. The charges on the card were made mainly in stores in the Lawrenceville area.

A VanDeventer Avenue resident who works out of his home reported the theft of a payroll check from his desk at approximately 4:56 p.m. on July 13.

The signature was forged, and the check, for $292.14, was cashed. Police were not yet sure where the check had been cashed.

Two Borough officers on patrol near Palmer Square last week were approached by a person who told them that there was a man around the corner lying on the ground after having been punched.

The officers turned the corner and found the injured man with his assailant standing over him. Police arrested Bryan Jacobson, 24, of no known address. The victim, who is 35 years old, suffered a cut on the bridge of his nose.

Police charged Mr. Jacobson with simple assault. The attack will also go down as a domestic violence complaint, said police, because the two men were apparently roommates at one time.

In what appears to have been an attempted burglary, a pane of glass was shattered in the back door of an Orchard Circle home.

The intruder gained access to the house between 3:10 p.m. and 4:12 p.m. on Thursday, but nothing was reported stolen.

Police were called to remove a man who had become abusive and violent toward staff members of the emergency room of the Princeton Medical Center last week.

They arrived at the hospital and arrested John Griggs of South Overbrook Street in Trenton. A computer check revealed that Mr. Griggs was wanted on numerous warrants from Trenton, and he was turned over to the Trenton Police Department.

Caledonio Davilortiz, of 152 Witherspoon Street, was arrested at 1:33 p.m. on Sunday. He was wanted on warrants issued by Princeton Borough, for failure to appear in court on DWI charges.

---

A Princeton Township resident who left her unlocked bicycle outside the University Store on University Place from 12:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. on July 14 returned to find it had been stolen.

The missing Schwinn Sidewinder was valued at $200.

In Borough Court this week, Hathi Blackman, of 39 Sayre Drive, was fined $125 for failure to yield to a pedestrian in a crosswalk.

Michael Carr of 704 Pyne Hall was fined $75 for driving without a license.

Recycling Containers For Disabled Adults

The Mercer County Improvement Authority (MCIA) will deliver additional recycling buckets to senior citizens with disabilities and adults with disabilities who participate in the county's curbside recycling program. The program is intended for senior citizens and adults who have no transportation or are unable to conduct daily activities due to physical disabilities.

"We understand how difficult it can be for senior citizens with disabilities and adults with disabilities to pick up additional recycling buckets at our office or municipal buildings," said Richard G. Van Noy, executive director for the Mercer County Improvement Authority. "The program will aid this group of citizens in their recycling efforts and if successful, become a yearly MCIA recycling project."

Requests for bucket delivery will be accepted August 1 through 12, by calling MCIA at 695-1200. Two buckets, one green and one yellow, are allowed per request. Buckets will be delivered to individual residences beginning the week of August 21 through September 1.

Recipients Announced Of Grants for the Arts

The trustees of the Geraldine R. Dodge Foundation have announced the recipients of grants totalling $2,250,000 for the arts.

The arts organizations in this area that received awards and the projects supported include:

July Garden Tour Planned by Isles

The Isles, Inc., Community Garden Program of Trenton, will sponsor its annual summer garden tour on Saturday. Tickets are available through the Isles office.

The tour will begin at the Bellevue Cottage Garden located opposite the Shiloh Baptist Church on Calhoun Street. Bus transportation will be provided. The tour, which stops at various garden and housing sites within the city, allows guests to meet community gardeners who have worked together to improve their neighborhood environment and quality of life.

The gardeners will provide a progressive brunch along the way. At the end of the tour, there will be a barbecue and entertainment. The event will be held rain or shine. Last year's tour attracted more than 175 people.

Tickets are $20 and checks should be made payable to Isles, Inc. Children under 10 years of age will be admitted free. All proceeds benefit the Isles Community Garden Program. for more information, call Ron or Ahkim at the Isles office, 393-5656. Fax: 393-9513.

Mercer County Receives More Money for Paper

The Mercer County Improvement Authority will receive $80 a ton for mixed paper collected under the county's curbside collection program for the month of July.

This represents an increase over the previous month's price of $45. Under the current contract with Homasote, prices paid to the Mercer County Improvement Authority for paper are based on an index derived from The Paper Stock Report, a biweekly publication listing current market prices for recyclable material. The contract contains a floor amount of $30 per ton, meaning the lowest amount per ton to be received from Homasote.

So far the county has received more than $325,000 since the mixed paper program began.

Mercer County added mixed paper to its curbside recycling program and distributed green buckets to residents in the county's curbside collection program. "I believe that the green buckets have added to the success of the mixed paper program," said Richard G. Van Noy, executive director for the Mercer County Improvement Authority. "Residents find the green buckets convenient and therefore increase their paper recycling."

Canoe Crosswicks Creek With the D&R Greenway

The D&R Greenway, a nonprofit regional land conservancy, is sponsoring a canoe trip to explore Crosswicks Creek in the Hamilton/Trenton Marsh on Saturday, August 5, from 9 to 1. The registration deadline is Monday, July 24.

Tom Wilkins and members of the Mohawk Canoe Club will lead the trip. After exploring the marsh at high tide, learning more about the birds, plants and animals that live there, the group will paddle with the tide back to Bordentown.

The trip is open to the public, but registration is limited. The cost to rent a canoe is $20 per member, $25 for nonmembers. There is a $5 registration fee if you bring your own canoe. The maximum number per canoe is two adults and two children under 16. Children under 16 are free when accompanied by two adults. The Greenway will match singles with partners when possible.

Legal and Practical Issues Cloud Completion of The Ridge

"I've seen so many concept plans for this development I'm almost numb," Borough Mayor Marvin Reed said at the outset of the Planning Board's concept review last Thursday of the latest plan for the 40 townhouse units at The Ridge.

A year ago the Garden State Land Group, developer of a 225-acre tract on what once belonged to the late Karl Pettit and family, received Planning Board approval for the construction of 40 townhouses on 44 of the acres. Earlier there had been a proposal for single-family homes arranged as a "village" in this same area.

Before this, 40 townhouses had been agreed to as part of a site plan to settle litigation brought by the Pettit interests when larger lot zoning was instituted for the entire ridge area in the Township. The plan also included 23 single-family homes that have been completed and are occupied on Arreton Road to the east of Cherry Hill Road and 26 single-family homes off Ridgeview Road to the west that are in various stages of completion.

The fact that the townhouse section is the last to be developed and has undergone so many modifications reflects changes in the real estate market in this area over the years. The August, 1994 approval was for 40 townhouses in nine buildings containing four units each and two buildings containing two units each.

The developer has found that the smaller interior units are all but impossible to sell. The current proposal is for 20 buildings with two townhouses each. The plan uses the same road configuration and keeps almost the same setbacks as the approved 1994 plan.

Housing Variety Wanted

Complicating the situation is the fact that at the time that the settlement agreement was being negotiated, the Planning Board decided to change its cluster ordinance to require that a portion of a cluster development be townhouses and a portion of the townhouses be limited in size to qualify for a density bonus. The purpose was to encourage the construction of a greater variety of housing types in the Township, including moderate-income housing.

However, the Planning Board's Zoning Amendment Review Committee (ZARC) is now recommending that these criteria for a density bonus be replaced with criteria having to do with the provision of dedicated active recreation areas and public access to path systems within the development. An amendment to the residential cluster ordinance putting these criteria in effect has been reviewed by the entire Planning Board and introduced by Township Committee.

Last week the amendment to the cluster ordinance returned to the Planning Board for formal recommendation to Township Committee, as required by the state land use law, and it now awaits a public hearing before Township Committee and formal adoption.

In a background memo accompanying its submission for concept review of the revised townhouse plan, Garden State Land Group, James Unger, vice president, states that the target purchaser for the townhomes is an "empty nester." Empty nesters expect to live in a smaller home than they occupied previously, but they are "unwilling to compromise certain basic room sizes," the memo asserts.

It also says that the 1987 settlement agreement with the Township "has negatively impacted our ability to meet the market requirements — 1800- and 2200-square-foot units are difficult to sell to our target purchaser." Having redesigned the plan to include 20 duplex buildings, the developer "will also request that the Planning Board consider offering relief on the size restrictions imposed in the 1987 settlement agreement."

The Planning Board seems to be doing this anyway, by revising the cluster ordinance, but the question that remains is whether a development plan that was part of a settlement agreement approved in court can be altered without going back to court and/or redoing the agreement and getting it approved by the Planning Board and Township Committee.

Township Mayor Michele Tuck said she was not comfortable giving input on the concept review without having more background information. Responding to Mr. Unger's saying that the proposed plan would have roughly 10,000 more square feet with 2 percent more impervious coverage, Joseph O'Neill said he would rather see fewer units and the scale and size retained as originally planned.

Richard Henkel said he thought the proposal had "approvable potential," but chairman William Enslin expressed concern about going from 11 buildings to 20. Planning Board Attorney Allen Porter acknowledged that the proposal raised "a whole host of issues," some legal and some having to do with procedure and jurisdiction. It was suggested that a subcommittee be appointed to tackle them.

Diffusing Concerns

In related matters, Mr. Unger announced a series of steps he had taken to try to diffuse the existing homeowners' concerns about construction of the tennis court that was promised in section 2 and other matters. He announced that he had posted bond with the Township and developed a schedule for the construction of the tennis court. He promised he would not come back to the Planning Board for preliminary and final approval for the section 2 townhouses "until the tennis courts are operational."

He also pledged to work with the landscape subcommittee about the lack of landscaping at the entrance to the Ridgeview Road section and put in the plantings in October. He also promised to complete some clean-up of stumps and other debris as requested by the homeowners and to complete the punch list on one particular home. In public hearing, residents complained about the location and unsightliness of a sales trailer, and Mr. Unger agreed to work with the Township engineer on the matter.

Peter Yannelos, president of the homeowners' association, said the tennis court agreement was satisfactory, as were some changes Mr. Unger made to preserve the setback of section 2 from Davies Drive. But he warned about careless construction impacts on trees and told the Planning Board, "If you decide to approve the much larger 40 units, they will add to the coffers of Garden State Land, so don't hesitate to ask for things you want."

A Fitch Way resident complained of unremoved stumps which attracted rodents and asked how the board could allow the situation to get so out of hand. He advocated no permit until the developer completed all the things that had been promised.

INVEST IN ORGANIC FUTURES
The principle behind organic farming is simple - work with nature to increase the natural fertility of the soil and you create a healthy environment for your crops, your workers, and your community. And, because you don't rely on petrochemical pesticides, your customers have less worry about pesticide residues on their food. The Whole Earth Center believes that organic farming makes a lot of sense both in the short- and the long-term. That's why all of the fresh produce we sell is certified organic and why we carry a wide range of packaged and bulk items that are also organically-grown. These include baby food, cereals, juices, coffees, teas, dairy products, soups, crackers, pasta, snack foods, tofu, flours, rice, grains, and more. We also have books about organic gardening, natural lawn care, and natural foods cooking. Come in and learn more about the benefits of organic farming. It's an idea with a big future.

Township Hoping Lower Interest Rates Will Help To Refinance $7 Million Griggs Farm Bond Issue

If interest rates remain favorable, the Township is planning to refinanee the $7 million bond issue to pay off the Griggs Farm construction loan. The Township's chief financial officer John S. Clawson Jr. estimates that nearly $175,000 in interest charges will be saved over the remaining life of the original honds, which were issued in September, 1991.

At its meeting Monday night, Township Committee unanimously approved a resolution authorizing an application to be made to the Local Finance Board for approval of a refunding bond ordinance in order to provide the savings in interest costs. The ordinance provides for the advance refunding of a portion of the $7 million original principal in general improvement bonds dated September 1, 1991.

The Township is proposing to refund the callable bonds maturing in the years 2000 through 2011 in the aggregate amount of $4.8 million. The interest rate on these bonds is 6.30 percent. Based on current market conditions, it is expected that approximately $5,155,000 general obligation refunding bonds will be issued with interest rates ranging from 3.75 percent to 5.35 percent.

According to executive summary that accompanies the applieation to the Local Finance Board, the Township will only proceed wlth the refinancing if market eonditions exist that would result in net present savings of three percent or greater on the bonds to be refunded. Level savings will be realized through the year 2011.

Committee approved the introduction of the refunding bond ordinance. The public hearing will be on Monday, August 7, when the Township bond counsel, Edward J. MeManimon III of McManimon & Scotland, will be presenl to answer questions. The underwriter is First Fidelity Bank of Newark. Costs associated with the refinancing are expected to be approximately $76,000.

The $175,000 in estimated savings in interest costs is a net figure, after these costs are subtracted.

Agreement on Sewers

In other business, Committee approved an agreement with Princeton University that allows the University to withdraw from the agreement made in 1932 hy which the University, Princeton Borough and Princeton Township have been managing the Princeton Sewer Operating Committee.

A year ago the University expressed its desire to withdraw from the PSOC on the grounds that managing a public sanitary sewer system is a puhlic function and not part of the University's mission as an educational institution. Over the past year negotiations took place between representatives of the University, the Borough and the Township to address various issues involved in the University's withdrawal from the PSOC.

Under the agreement, Princeton University will eontinue to own and maintain eertain sanitary sewer lines which are exclusively devoted to University purposes. It is not asking a reimbursement for any of its equity in the River Road transfer station or the landfill.

The University agrees to contribute a percentage of the eost of elosing the landfill as well as a pereentage of any damage costs and expenses incurred by the Borough and/or Township as a result of any environmental damage caused by the landfill. The percentage will be based upon the amount of cubic yards of waste the University has contributed to the landfill over the years.

Payment of these costs will be in lieu of the University's payment of that part of sewer user fees and taxes required to cover such costs. This limitation applies to all propertics owned by the University at the time the agreement goes into effect. The agreement includes a provision covering property that is taken off the tax rolls in the future.

Moreover, the University agrees to assume its share of the cost of defending any personal injury elaim filed at some future date by a third party against the PSOC as a result of groundwater pollution from materials placed in the landfill during the University's participation in the PSOC. Similarly it will pay a percentage of damages and eosts that result from environmental damage arising out of the PSOC operation of the transfer station.

The agreement will take effect when approved and signed by hoth the Borough and the Township.

Pedestrian Bridge

In still other business, Committee approved a resolution that sets forth the amounts that will be required as a special assessment from homeowners along Cherry Hill Road who have benefited hy the recent installation of a public sanitary sewer line in front of their homes.

Committee also introduced a capital ordinance appropriating $25,000 for a pedestrian bridge over Mountain Brook across Route 206 from the Township police station. The hridge will be part of a hike path from Cherry Hill Road and Mountain Avenue that the Department of Transportation is willing to construct at its own cost as part of the Route 206 resurfacing projeet. The bridge will be paid for by developer fees.

In work session, Committee hriefly reviewed architectural plans to make the Township municipal offices, police station and Recreation Department comply with the Americans for Disabilities Aet. The cost to ramp the front of the Valley Road building, install a chair lift up to the meeting room level, make minor modifieations to the restrooms and make the police station and Recreation Department Office accessible to the handicapped is estimated at $160,000.

Township Engineer Robert V. Kiser told Committee he hoped to go out to bid on the project shortly so the work eould begin this September and be completed during the fall. Mr. Kiser also reported to Committee that the Township was unsuccessful in its applieation for federal funds to aequire a pedestrian bridge to place over Stony Brook at Mercer Road.

The Township would like to acquire one of the outmoded iron bridges that Mercer County has decided must be replaced but which it does not want to destroy. Mr. Kiser suggested putting pressure on the Mercer County freeholders might help, and Committee agreed.

Committee spent an hour at the beginning of the meeting discussing a resolution opposing the incinerator that has been proposed by Mercer County Improvement Authority for installation on Duck Island outside Trenton. The resolution was ultimately approved with amendments by a vote of four to one, Steve Frakt abstaining.

Planning Board Okays Subdivision Off Rt. 206 North

Princeton Research Lands, a Bryce Thompson company, won Planning Board approval last week to subidivide a heavily wooded 18-acre parcel off Route 206 into four new building lots.

The parcel is located next to the Princeton Gateway Corporate campus, and access would be through an easement across its entranceway. To give the proposed residential subdivision a separate identity and to distinguish it from the commercial building, the developer proposes a small cul-de-sac circle right at the entrance into the site.

This cul-de-sac was bigger and the driveway up the steep slope to access the four lots was longer and more tortuous in an earlier application. The Township staff tried to convince Mr. Thompson, his engineer and his attorney that the cul-de-sac served no real purpose and should be eliminated. However, it remains, albeit in slighly reduced form, on the revised application reviewed last Thursday.

The site plan was approved with numerous conditions, including the stipulation that disturbance on each lot was limited to 30 percent of the area of the lot. Each lot is at least four acres, meeting the requirement for the RA zone.

Planning Board Vice Chairwoman Margen Penick wanted to make sure that the approval made it clear that the conditions being imposed were for residential use only. The parcel is one of the areas in the Township that is designated for use for a nursing home or assisted living facility as a conditional use under the not-yet-adopted nursing home and assisted living facility ordinance.

Archibald Reid, attorney for Mr. Thompson in this application, said if the ordinance were in place his client would be only too glad to sign a contract with an operator of such a facility in lieu of developing the land as residential lots.

Student Housing Sought By the County College

Mercer County Community College is looking for area home owners who want to rent rooms or apartments to students, particularly male and minority students. Besides helping a student in need, renting a room means added income and companionship.

The college will serve only as a listing agent; all arrangements must be worked out between the home owner and renter.

For more information or to rent a room, call the college's Student Activities office at 586-4800, extension 435.

Hopewell Country Florist Announces New Owners

Hopewell Country Florist has recently been purchased by Lydia Hickman-Grier and Allan G. Hickman Sr., along with their spouses. Together, this brother and sister team and their spouses have more than 50 years of design and marketing knowledge in every aspect of the floral industry.

The florist is located at 21 East Broad Street, Hopewell.

The brother and sister began working with their family in South Dennis in the mid-1960s at Connors Greenhouse on Route 83 in Dennis Township.

William W. Lockwood of Jefferson Road has been named principal programming associate of the New Jersey Performing Arts Center now under construction in Newark. He will be working with Stephanie S. Hughley, theater and dance producer for the Atlanta Committee for the Olympic Games Cultural Olympiad, who has been named vice president of programming. Together they will be responsible for creating the year-round performances at the $165 million center now going up on 12 acres in the business district of downtown Newark.

Mr. Lockwood has served as special programming director at McCarter Theater since 1963. He also served as executive director for programming for Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts from 1982 until 1992. He joined Lincoln Center as an assistant director of programming in 1965. During his 27 years at the Center he was instrumental in developing and producing such programs as Great Performers, the Mostly Mozart Festival (which he named) and the innovative Serious Fun festival of performing arts.

He continued to serve as a consultant to Lincoln Center from 1992 to 1993 and has been a consultant to the New Jersey Performing Arts Center in the development of its artistic and business plans. Opening night at the center is planned for 1997.

Issue of Police Accepting Free Food Has Been Addressed and Resolved

To the Editor of Town Topics:

As the Borough of Princeton's Police Commissioner and Council President I would like to comment on recent articles and letters about our police department.

First and foremost, the Borough of Princeton has a highly professional, well trained and motivated police department. The caliber of personnel in our police department is very high and it shows in their performance. My opinion of the Borough's police personnel is based on my interaction with them as police commissioner, as a volunteer fireman, as a volunteer first aid squad member and as a citizen who has dealt with our officers while they carried out their police duties.

As police commissioner, I was concerned when I first heard that a single person had mentioned that they thought police officers might receive free or discounted food at some local eating establishments. The police chief and I met and discussed this allegation. The allegation was then brought in front of the Borough's Public Safety Committee for further action. At the Public Safety Committee meeting we reviewed our police department's rules and regulations and discussed how to further investigate the matter. The Safety Committee decided that the police chief would personally contact the establishments in question about this matter. This was done.

The chief also issued a memorandum to the department that clearly stated that discounts on food should be considered the same as accepting gratuities, which is a violation of departmental policy. At no time has anyone come forward with any information that would establish any truth to the allegation that our officers accepted free food. Were discounts ever given; while local eating establishments will not say they have done so, it is likely that this did happen. Why did it happen is an important question. Did it happen so someone could gain something from our police department, no. Did it happen so special favors would be given by our police department, no. Did it happen because some people still believe in and respect the patrol officer's uniform and what it stands for, I would say yes.

Should our officers accept discounts on food or any other item from any local merchant, no they should not. Has this matter been adequately addressed by the department itself and the Borough Council, yes it has. The issue is resolved, the appropriate inquiry has been completed. I would respectfully suggest to Councilman Martindell that he accept the Council's decision that this matter is settled. Let's move on and deal with our budget problems, our overcrowding problems, our traffic problems or any of the other pressing issues out there that really effect our residents.

MARK FREDA
Police Commissioner
Borough of Princeton

Princeton High School Athletes Defended Against Charge of 'Poor Sportsmanship'

To the editor of Town Topics:

I am writing this letter as a defense for the students of Princeton High School. In Charlotte Danielson's letter to the editor on July 19, she wrote of a "Reluctance on the part of other schools to play Princeton High School because of the poor sportsmanship displayed by our students."

I feel that this statement is grossly unfair to the students of Princeton High School. As a senior at PHS, and a member of the varsity track and basketball teams, I have competed in numerous games and meets. Not once have I seen unsportsmanlike conduct displayed by our students. In addition to the athletic contest I have competed in, I have been a spectator at many other events, from football games to tennis matches. Again, I cannot recall an act of poor sportsmanship from our players.

I know that my classmates at PHS always act with class and maturity in athletic competition. I am certainly not aware of a "reluctance" by other schools to play us. I am sure that there have been incidents of poor sportsmanship at PHS. But these rare examples of misconduct by our student-athletes hardly account for Ms. Danielson's statement. This statement reflects poorly on all the students of PHS, and gives us an undeserved image. The athletic teams at Princeton High School, because of their class, maturity, and respect for their sport, have always been a source of pride for me. I know that regardless of won-loss records, Princeton High School athletic teams will continue to be the most respectful and well-behaved athletes on the field.

Hauser Family Expresses Gratitude To the Township Police Department

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The Hauser Family would like to express their sincere gratitude and appreciation to the Princeton Township Police Department, especially Officers Leiggi, Conover, and Young who promptly responded to an emergency call to save Gerhard Hauser's life after he collapsed on the tennis courts from a cardiac arrest.

Their excellent training and humanitarian efforts should not go unrecognized. Without their efforts he would no longer be with us.

Thank you again.

Parents Object to Exclusive Use Of Joint 2-3 Classes at Littlebrook

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The following is a copy of a letter sent to members of the Princeton Board of Education, Superintendent of Schools Dr. Marcia Bossart, and to Littlebrook Principal Dr. Robert Ginsberg.

We, the undersigned parents, do not believe that a 2-3 multi-age class structure for all third-grade students will serve the best interests of our third graders. We object to its institution across the board and request the option of regular third grade classes. Our objections to the exclusive use of 2-3 classes at Littlebrook are:

• Princeton Regional Schools do not have an educational philosophy that supports the use of multi-age classes. They are being proposed only to solve budgetary problems.

• Curriculum, especially in the areas of mathematics, social studies, and science, is not written to supprt multi-age groupings. Rewriting curriculum at the last minute to serve groupings based on expediency undercuts the existing curriculum to which the district has made a significant commitment in time, effort, and resources.

• Out of 53 third graders, eight are classified and will be pulled out to go to the Resource Room and possibly to Occupational Therapy. An additional seven or eight will go to Basic Skills. An additional number will go to Speech and Language. The number going to English as a Second Language last year was five or six; that number may well increase this year with the addition of Institute children. The large number of pull-outs from the third grade is disruptive to students as individuals and to the class as a whole. It is a significant burden for a teacher as well. A multi-age class by nature is a more fragmented environment, but with such a large number of pull-outs, the situation is exacerbated.

• Recognizing that there is always a range of ability and achievement in a class, teachers must frequently teach to the middle level of the class. Extending the range of ability and achievement downwards through the addition of second graders to the classroom invariably lowers where that middle range falls.

• As third grade parents, we recognize the social and emotional repercussions of placement with younger children, who are by definition less mature. We believe our children need encouragement to aim for the highest levels of social behavior and academic achievement. Much of that encouragement is through placement with a peer group.

We, as parents more concerned with our children's education than with expediency, most strongly request that a solution be found and instituted which allows the placement of our children in the type of classroom environment which will benefit them socially and academically and be in accordance with our district's curriculum, practices, and policies.

Council Members' Letter an "Absolute Insult" To Pure Motives of Stars & Stripes Committee

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Let me assure Mr. Koontz (TOWN TOPICS, July 12, "Once More, Old Glory Is Waved Around to get Someone Elected to Office") that our motive was "pure" in raising funds to fly the American flag along Nassau Street; the motive for the American flag display is simple PATRIOTISM. It's a sad commentary when a group of public minded citizens has to defend their love of America and its flag.

The comment by Mildred Trotman, Sandra Starr, Arthur Saylor and Roger Martindell expressed in their letter to the editor (TOWN TOPICS, July 19) demands a very direct response. Their comment that the flags were flown "merely to further personal political interests" is self-serving and is an absolute insult to the members of the Stars & Stripes Committee, as well as all the residents of Princeton. They owe an apology to the members of this committee. They have gotten so far out of touch with the community that they don't even know public spirit when they see it.

As for my involvement with this activity, my interest in the community speaks for itself. I don't need politicians incorrectly defining my motives. Regardless of their shameful comment, I will continue to stand up for what I believe is best for our town.

SURGERY

"When I completed my training at Cornell and Bellevue and came to Princeton 20 years ago, I was attracted by the high quality of the medical staff.

Today, as chairman of the Department of Surgery, it is gratifying to see that our hospital continues to attract physicians of the highest calibre. Dr. Henry Davison came to Princeton from training at Columbia-Preshyterian Hospital and Dr. Ken Goldman joined us after his training at New York University.

It is important for patients to be confident in the quality of the physicians in their communities."

Intime's 'Much Ado About Nothing' Has Flaws, But Sparkles with Colorful Action and Humor

WORTHY ADVERSARIES: Janet Quartarone is Beatrice and Dale Simon is Benedick in Princeton Summer Theatre's production of "Much Ado About Nothing" at Murray Theatre on the University campus.

Much Ado About Nothing, one of Shakespeare's best-loved comedies, sparkles with colorful action and humor in Brian Bara's ambitious production, currently running at Princeton Summer Theatre. Setting the play in Sicily at the end of World War II, Mr. Bara has staged an extravagant, entertaining show, with 15 scenes ranging from high romance and intense melodrama to low slapstick, and a diverse company of 24, portraying characters from the broadest caricatures to several of Shakespeare's most richly and finely drawn creations.

This third PST production of the season is not flawless, however. Some actors are clearly more adept than others at communicating the challenging language; congestion on the small stage occasionally obstructs sightlines and audience focus; and, most problematically, the pacing needs periodic shots of adrenaline.

What's more important, however, is that Mr. Bara has developed a clever, workable concept; he has rehearsed his large, diverse company intelligently and thoroughly; and the production is fun, featuring an ensemble that understands Shakespeare's play and is fully engaged in communicating its wonderful romance, drama and humor to contemporary audiences. Much thoughtful, painstaking work has paid off here, in every aspect of this production–from costuming, choreography, music, lighting and set to the hilarious stage business and the 400-year-old language coming to life in the mouths of dynamic characters.

The Big Band sounds of 1944 — "In the Mood," "Blue Moon," "Swinging On a Star, "I'll Never Smile Again" — provide the background music, as the Sicilian soldiers return home from World War II to Messina, to celebrations and to different sorts of challenges on the domestic scene — wars of romance and the battles of the sexes. Colorful, elaborately detailed costumes, designed by David Kaley and Amy Edwards, along with the spirited music, help to update this classic comedy without any undue distortions of Shakespeare's text, tone or intentions.

Play About Masks

Much Ado About Nothing is a play about masks, disguises, overhearings, misunderstandings, and attempts to reach truth and understanding beyond the confusions of outward appearances. The complex plots revolve around two contrasting pairs of lovers. The conventional Claudio and Hero are betrothed early in the play and finally married at the end after overcoming Don John's evil plan to sully Hero's virtuous reputation.

But the counterplot of the battling lovers Beatrice and Benedick ultimately takes center stage and provides two of the most memorable characters and some of the finest, funniest moments in all of Shakespeare. Friends of Beatrice and Benedick plot to transform their incessant verbal sparring into true love and marriage, as Shakespeare's Keystone Cops — Dogberry, Verges and the Watch — finally bumble their way into exposing Don John's villainy and bring the play to a happy ending.

Dale Simon as Benedick and Janet Quartarone as Beatrice, two veteran area performers, are worthy adversaries. "What, my dear Lady Disdain!" he draws the battle lines in the opening scene. "Are you yet living?" And she rapidly fires back, "Is it possible disdain should die while she hath such meet food to feed it as Signor Benedick?"

Both actors are comfortable with the linguistic acrobatics, and they portray with flair these fascinating characters and their amorous dueling. Watching their relationship progress from apparent disdain to honest, deep affection is a highlight of the evening. Mr. Simon, though occasionally less than clear in diction, is appealing throughout and superb in his humorous soliloquies, where he shares with the audience his thoughts and frustrations.

Constable Dogberry (J.B. Jasiunas) and his righthand man Verges (Charles Perkins) threaten to steal the show with their well-orchestrated cloning, as they lead their clumsy watchmen, deftly played by Jeff Kurtz, Mark Penney and Thomas Beauchamp, in pursuit of the villains. Mr. Jasiunas is clear and strong in projecting the pompous malapropisms of Dogberry, and Mr. Perkins simply creates the funniest character on stage. In addition to pratfalls, numerous forays through the audience and much hilarious, neatly timed stage business, Mr. Perkins embodies this irascible elderly constable in every gesture, expression, and movement.

Beatrice), are adequate, but lacking in the energy and sharpness in picking up cues that this Much Ado needs to accelerate its almost three-hour playing time. Curtis Kaine uses his powerful bass voice to advantage in a supporting role as Leonato's brother Antonio.

William Pyonteck as Claudio and Amy Edwards as Hero, the youthful and less interesting — though highly dramatic — lovers, are clear in characterization and effective in communicating their lines, except for occasional lapses in Ms.Edwards' voice projection.

Skulduggery Dept.

The skulduggery department is ably manned by Marc Goldberg as Don John and his two henchmen, Ian Wood as Borachio and Walter Cupit as Conrade — all three appropriately evil, dissolute and convincing, as they pursue their devious scheme to dishonor Hero, destroy the marriage plans and bring discord to Messina.

Christina Gelsone, despite minor problems in diction and projection, and Evelyn Connolly are successful as gentlewomen to Hero and perpetrators in the scheme to make Beatrice fall in love with Benedick. Ms. Gelsone also does an excellent job as choreographer and featured dancer, most notably in staging and leading the revellers to the tune of "In the Mood" at the celebratory masked ball.

Eden Heitzman is a poised and capable figure as solo singer and servant/-messenger to Don Pedro, while young Colin Connaught as the Boy almost steals a couple of very funny key scenes. Completing this focused, well-prepared company are Joshua Allen as the Sexton, Jeff Gola as Friar Francis and Adam Fitting, Elizabeth Suydam and Liza Walworth as attendant gentlemen and ladies.

The multi-talented Ms. Gelsone has also designed the simple, functional, streamlined unit set, wisely remembering: 1) the importance of fluidity and pacing, with 15 necessary changes; and 2) Shakespeare's own limitations to nothing more than a bare stage with only the most basic scenery. Lighting by Mr. Jasiunas is effective throughout and helpful in enhancing scene changes.

Following up on his successful staging of A Midsummer Night's Dream for PST a year ago, Mr. Bara seems to have started a tradition, one that we hope will continue. Despite some pacing problems that may improve as the show enters its second weekend — it now seems about 15 minutes too long, this Much Ado is not only impressively ambitious and worthwhile. It's also lots of fun.

Princeton Summer Theatre's Much Ado will be playing at the Murray Theatre on the Princeton University campus for two more weekends, with performances on July 27-29 and August 3-5 at 8 p.m. and 2 p.m. Matinees on July 29 and 30 and August 5 and 6. Call 258-4950 for reservations and further information.

PERFORMING AT WESTMINSTER: Flutist Katherine McClure, left, and pianist Anita Cervantes will perform in recital Thursday at 6:30 in Williamson Hall on the campus of Westminster Choir College. They will be joined by soprano Margaret-Anne Davis. The program includes the world premiere of a work by Pennington resident Olga Gorelli.

"Lend Me a Tenor" Next At Off-Broadstreet

Lend Me A Tenor, a farce written by an American entertainment attorney, Ken Ludwig, will open Friday at Off-Broadstreet Theatre, Hopewell, for a six-weekend run. Off-Broadstreet is a dessert theatre offering a buffet of desserts, fruit, coffee or tea before the performance.

In Lend Me a Tenor, Saunders, an opera company impresario, and Julia, the president of the Cleveland Opera Guild, have scheduled a fund-raising event featuring world renowned tenor Tito Merelli. Unfortunately, Tito arrives with a severe belly ache. Max, an aspiring singer himself and Saunders' go-for, is given the assignment to keep an eye on Tito to be sure he stays away from food, alcohol and women — which quickly proves to be an impossible task.

Saunders will be played by Doug Klein, a veteran of 25 years of theatrical experience from dinner theatre to soap operas to radio work. James Morgan, a five-time Jeopardy winner who has appeared with several area theatres including the George Street Playhouse, will star as Max.

Performances are weekends through September 2. On Friday and Saturday evenings doors open at 7 for desert with curtain at 8. Sunday matinees feature dessert at 1:30 with curtain at 2:30. Admission Friday and Sunday is $17.50; the Saturday price is $19.

The ticket price includes dessert and show. There is a senior citizen rate available for Sunday matinees. For reservations call the theatre a 466-2766. Off-Broadstreet Theatre is located at 5 South Greenwood Avenue, Hopewell. The mailing address is P.O. Box 359, Hopewell 08525.

MUSIC

Summer Concert Series Continues at Westminster

The Westminster Summer Concert Series continues with a week of musical events including a world premiere, a piano performance, a Hymn Sing and a Sing-in. All performances will be on the campus of Westminster Choir College of Rider University, and the public is invited at no charge.

Katherine McClure, flute, Margaret-Anne Davis, soprano and Anita Cervantes, piano, will perform Thursday at 6:30 in Williamson Hall. The program will feature the world premiere of a work by Olga Gorelli that is a setting of a poem by Marvin Cheiten and was commissioned by him. It will also include Ms. Gorelli's setting of poems of Pablo Medina and works by Teleman and Debussy.

Ms. McClure performs throughout the Delaware Valley in solo, ensemble and orchestra settings. She is an artist faculty member of the Westminster Conservatory. Ms. Davis has performed with the New York City Opera National company and has appeared as a soloist with the Princeton Chamber Symphony. She is active in New York City Opera's education program and directs the vocal program at The Lawrenceville School.

For more information about any of the concerts, call the concerts office at 921-2663.

Mr. Hopkins, who recently made his European debut in the role of Arbace in Mozart's Idomeneo is minister of music for the Convent Avenue Baptist Church in New York City with an active performance career. Ms. Curenton is a composer, organist and vocalist as well as a pianist. Commissioned to compose for such artists as George Shirley and Duke Ellington, she has composed works performed by the National Symphony and the Minneapolis Symphony and the Minneapolis Symphony.

Mr. Dumpson is conductor of the Westminster Jubilee Singers and director of the African-American Choral Music Ensemble at the Community College of Philadelphia and minister of music at Bright Hope Baptist Church in Philadelphia.

Piano Recital

Anita Cervantes will perform a piano recital Monday at 6:30 in Williamson Hall. The program will include works by Haydn, Altman, Turian and Bach.

William Alford, a graduate of Westminster Choir College, will lead a Hymn Sing Monday at 8 in Bristol Chapel.

Armonia, an ensemble of viols, recorders and voice, will perform a recital Tuesday at 6:30 in Williamson Hall. The program is entitled ""Vox Femini: The Voices of Medieval Women in Poetry and Song."

Melanie Jacobson will conduct a Sing-In Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Bristol Chapel. It will feature Durufle's Requiem. Ms. Jacobson is a member of the conducting faculty at Westminster and is the assistant conductor of the Westminster Symphonic Choir.

Pianist Chie Sato Roden will perform in recital Wednesday, August 2, at 8 in Bristol Chapel. The program will include Edo Revisited by David Loeb, Wandering: The Poetic World of Santoka Taneda by Toru Tamura, Elegy to an Abandoned Baby by Haruna Miyake, and Theme and Variations for

St. Petersburg String Quartet Promises To Be Another Summer Concerts "Find"

Every so often the Princeton University Summer Chamber Concerts are distinguished by the presence of an ensemble from abroad that, while little known in the United States, demonstrates great promise. The most celebrated example is the 1973 appearance of the relatively obscure Tokyo String Quartet, which went on to earn a world-class reputation. A sense that something special was unfolding seemed to stir the listeners at Richardson Auditorium on Thursday evening. The focus of this sensation, the well-kept secret revealed, was the St. Petersburg String Quartet.

The very first measure of Haydn's Quartet in F minor, Opus 20, No. 5, hinted at the good things in store. The solid, well-shaped first tone of opening melody played by the first violin, followed a half-beat later by the other instruments vibrantly pulsating their accompaniment, heralded how well the musicians had planned and would execute their interpretations of the music they played. The first and third movements highlighted particularly well the talents of Alla Aranovskaya on first violin: she led the way in crafting phrases and infusing melodies with passion. She and the Quartet as a whole deftly handled contrasts between loud and soft, and the nuances and transitions in between.

Ravel's Quartet in F Major followed and provided a nice complement to Haydn. The first movement, which feels more like a series of expansions and contractions than the logical sonata form that it is, allowed another side of the Quartet's musical personality to be heard. This first movement and the well-known pizzicato second movement were taken at a faster-than-average speed, but the Quartet did not sacrifice musicality to technical display. In this, as in the other two works on the program, the players were not only a pleasure to hear but also to watch; as they moved their bodies to the rhythm of the bowing and plucking, they often — especially 'cellist Leonid Shukaev — looked like graceful seated dancers.

The Quartet turned to a great Russian work, Shostakovich's Quartet No. 2, Opus 68, to conclude its program. The energetic first movement was followed by a slow movement, Rezitativ und romanze, in which Ms. Aranovskaya created an almost vocal intoning of the solo "recitative" sections. After a third movement based on quick waltz rhythms, the fourth movement began as an orderly series of variations on a folk-inspired theme but quickly turned less predictable and more dynamic, building to several climactic passages. The St. Petersburg, which will be issuing the complete Shostakovich Quartets on compact disc in the near future, imbued the work with drama, flair, and strength.

Many of the listeners in the capacity crowd were standing during the ovation that followed the Shostakovich work. The musicans responded with an encore by the same composer, a jaunty, humorous dance.

As it completes its summer tour of the U.S., the Quartet will no doubt continue to receive enthusiastic receptions. As I watched second violinist Ilya Teplyakov, his jacket removed, stroll back and forth smoking cigarettes behind Alexander Hall at intermission, I wondered if we would have a chance to see him and colleagues in Princeton again soon.

—Linda Tyler

In addition to the Koch recordings, the Angeles is engaged in a five-year project to record Haydn's entire output for string quartet. The project is supported by the Joseph Haydn Society.

Carillon Concerts On Sunday Afternoons

Princeton University is sponsoring a series of carillon concerts on Sunday afternoons at the Graduate College. The 45-minute recitals feature world-renowned carillonneurs from the United States and abroad.

The remaining concerts in the summer carillon series feature Sally Slade Warner of St. Stephen's Church in Cohasset, Mass., who will perform on Sunday. On August 6 Richard M. Watson of the firm Meeks & Watson will play followed by Joseph Davis of the Riverside Church in New York City on August 13.

Ms. Austin will perform on August 20 followed by John Gouwens of Culver Military Academy in Culver, Ind. on August 27. The season concludes with a recital by Frank Della Penna of Washington National Carillon in Valley Forge, Pa. on September 3.

The public is encouraged to bring a blanket or chair and picnics may be set up on the grass. For more information call 258-3654.

Folk Music Group Due at Coffeehouse

The Stony Brook Coffeehouse, sponsored by the Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association, will present the folk group Coro Cane on Saturday.

Coro Cane performs primarily the music of the Andes mountain regions of South America, but they have traveled extensively to experience the folk music of many lands. The members hail from Mercer County and Bucks County, Pa. They feature an assortment of instruments including charango, pan pipes, tricordia, bomba, and other percussive instruments.

The summer coffeehouse concerts are held outdoors behind the Buttinger Nature Center near the main office building, Titus Mill Road, Hopewell Township. In case of rain, concerts will be held indoors where space is limited. Bring a blanket for outdoor concerts.

Doors open at 7:30; the music begins at 8. Admission is $5 for adults and $3 for children. Refreshments are available for a small fee.

For more information call the Education Office at 737-7592.

Angeles String Quartet Final on Summer Series

Princeton Summer Concerts will present the Angeles String Quartet Tuesday at 8 as the final program in this summer's series of free chamber music concerts in Richardson Auditorium.

The program will include Haydn's String Quartets Opus 1, No. 2 and Opus 76, No. 2 as well as Dvorak's American String Quartet, Opus 96. Tickets are free and are available at the Richardson box office beginning at 7 the night of the performance. The doors to the auditorium open at 7:15.

The Angeles String Quartet was formed seven years ago when four string players in Los Angeles were invited to play together as a quartet for a single performance. The members of the quartet are Kathleen Lenski and Steven Miller, violins, Brian Dembow, viola, and Stephen Erdody, cello.

The quartet made its recording debut in June with the release of Erich Wolfgang Korngold's String Quartet No. 3 (1945) and Fritz Kreisler's String Quartet (1921) on the Koch International Classics label. The recording is the first of three projected Koch discs that will feature rarely heard works, many of which are by film score composers.

ETS Seeking Artists For 1996 Exhibit Season

Educational Testing Service is seeking artists interested in displaying their works during the 1996 exhibit season.

ETS offers two different gallery exhibits each month. The Brodsky Gallery is located in the Chauncey Conference Center and can handle both hanging works and free-standing sculptures. The other gallery is located in Conant Hall and is principally for works which can be hung.

All of ETS's exhibits are free of charge, open to the puhlic and allow artists to sell their works. ETS does not charge any fee when works are purchased and accepted artists get free pickup of the featured works, delivery and installation, and return of the works to the artist.

Interested artists should submit either black and white or color photographs or slides of their work, along with biographical information, to Lisa Tinsman, Corporate Art Exhibits, Mailstop 02-F, Educational Testing Service, Rosedale Road, Princeton 08541. The deadline for applications is September 10.

For further information, call Ms. Tinsman at 734-5910, or Carol Siciliano at 734-5122.

Exhibits

Each month a different New Jersey artist will be featured in the hallway gallery of Merrill Lynch. Coordinated by Artworks, the Merrill Lynch Gallery will exhibit photographs by Nancy J. Ori of Gillette during the month of August.

An industrial photographer and video producer, Ms. Ori also teaches photography workshops throughout the United States. She has been affiliated for many years with the Ansel Adams Workshop in California and has been on the faculty of the New Jersey Center for Visual Arts in Summit and the Summit Area Community Schools for a number of years. In 1990, she established the New Jersey Heritage Photography Workshop which she holds annually in Cape May.

The photographs in this exhibit are from a portfolio called "Shadows and Memories," and were created over a period of about five years during several visits to California. The collection features portraits of artifacts and architecture which in turn represent a portrait of a group of people during the Gold Rush Era.

The exhibit opens Tuesday. There will be a "meet the artist" reception on Sunday, August 13, from 2 to 4 p.m., which is open to the public.

"HOUSE WALL," a black and white photograph by Nancy J. Ori, is included in an exhibition at the Merrill Lynch Gallery through the month of August.

The Coryell Gallery, Lambertville, is presenting its 15th annual summer exhibition of gallery artists through September. Most of the artists have been associated with the gallery for many years and come from the Delaware Valley area, including Princeton and Trenton. Watercolors, oils, pastels, casein, sculpture and pottery are the mediums represented.

A major work in the show is a large oil painting titled Cafe in Venice by Louis Bosa (1905-1981) a member of the National Academy who taught at the Art Students League and later was head of the advanced Painting Department at the Cleveland Art Institute.

Among other artists exhibiting are Joanne Augustine, Albert Bross, Ranulph Bye, Vincent Ceglia, Marge Chavooshian, Alexander Farnham, Richard Lennox, Henry Drexler, Robert Sakson, Katharine Steele Renninger, George Van Hook, Charles Ross, Joanne Scott, Pat Shamy, Gabrielle Baumgartner and Valerie Von Betzen, Harriet Ermentrout and Pamela Miller.

As Legion Season Ends, Princeton Finishes Big

It wasn't an easy season for Princeton Post 218. There were some long losing streaks, some tough one-run losses, and the knowledge, early in the season, that a shot at a play-off berth was virtually non-existent.

The squad might have played the final two games of the year as though they didn't matter. It was true, from the point of view of the statistician: the games meant nothing in terms of standings or post-season play.

Mercifully, though, the world is not peopled exclusively by statisticians.

Post 218 finished the 1995 season by chalking up a 2-1 revenge win over Bordentown Post 26, and beating the stuffing out of second-place Hightstown Post 148, 12-4.

The team's record improved from 6-16 to 8-18, giving them a final winning percentage of .333.

Catcher Ron Ira delivered a 2-for-2 performance at the plate against Bordentown on Tuesday, swatting a single and a double, and driving in both Princeton runs in the 2-1 win. First baseman Kyle Mapps was 2-for-3 with a double and a run scored.

Pitcher Jeff Tantum ended his Legion career with a seven-inning complete-game win. He allowed only one run on nine hits, striking out five and walking two.

Glasses must have been shattering in Hightstown Tuesday night, because Post 218 closed out the season on a very high note.

Visiting a team that had dealt them a 6-0 loss earlier in the year, Princeton put a 12-4 hurt on their hosts.

The second-place Hightstown squad looked as though it had solved Princeton's starter, Mike Berkman, in the early innings. Two runs in the first and another in the second, and things looked ill for the Post 218 lefty.

However, Berkman found his balance and silenced the Hightstown offense through the heart of the game, innings three through five.

By the time he gave up a single run in the sixth, it was academic, as his teammates had piled up 12 runs of their own. Berkman finished with four runs on 10 hits, with one strikeout and five walks.

The Post 218 bats were led by Scott Muzyk. Playing his last game of Legion baseball, the former co-captain of the PHS team was 4-for-4 at the plate with a triple, a grand slam, five RBIs, and three runs scored.

Berkman helped himself, going 2-for-4 with two runs scored. Ira was 1-for-3 with two runs scored, and second baseman Rich Wright was 1-for-1 with two RBIs and a run scored

———

Post 218 will be losing some familiar names in the off-season, as those players who turn 18 before August 1 will not be eligible next year.

Players who have played their last Post 218 game include Mike Nolan, Muzyk, Berkman, Mapps, Ira, Rich Bliss, Dave Wiskowski, Todd Terpstra, and Jeff Tantum.

"I'm looking to the future," said manager Tommy Parker. "Over the last few weeks, we've seen some of the younger kids improve tremendously. They're going to be a force to be reckoned with, down the line."

The team will not be left without experienced leadership next season: third baseman Nathan Dean and second baseman Rich Wright have been elected to captain the 1996 squad.

Blair Places Second In Golf Tournament

Susan Blair couldn't catch Donna Anderson in the Women's Trenton District Golf Association Amateur championship last week, but she did survive a playoff for second place for her highest finish ever in the event.

Playing the final round on her home course at Copper Hill last Thursday, Anderson was untouchable with an even par 73, for a three-day total of 237. The title was the second straight for the 19-year-old Winthrop University student.

Blair, a Bedens Brook Club member, had led the tournament after the first round with an 81. She fell into a three-way tie for second after the second round when a couple of bad holes pushed her score to 88. She got back in the groove last Thursday, firing a 79 for a total of 248, but finished the round still tied with Hopewell Valley's Alicia Kapheim, who also carded a 79.

The two started over again in a sudden death playoff, and Blair wasted no time, winning the par-4 first hole. Two other Bedens Brook players, Donna Neas and Boots Alampi finished ninth (258) and 10th (260) respectively.

Here's an oddity ... The biggest paid attendance for any baseball game in history was NOT for the World Series game or even a regular season game — but for an exhibition game ... The all-time baseball attendance record of 93,103 was set at an exhibition game between the Dodgers and Yankees in the Los Angeles Coliseum in 1959, honoring Roy Campanella ... No other baseball game has ever topped that, before or since.

One of the most unusual forfeits in sports history happened in 1992 when players on the Memorial High School baseball team in Manchester, N.H., decided they'd rather go to the school prom than travel to a quarterfinal game in the state tournament ... ### Some Normality Returns For PU Women's Hoops

After months of waiting and a few weeks of pure anxiety, the Princeton University women's basketball program is beginning to take on a more normal look. The players will return to at least one familiar face, as (pay attention, it's complicated) newly-hired coach Liz Feeley has re-hired graduate assistant Leah Spraragen as her assistant coach.

The resignation of longtime coach Joan Kowalik in April led to the eventual hiring of Stanford assistant coach Julie Plank on June 22. Plank quit after nine days, but by that time, she had already cut loose the residual coaching staff, who were all out looking for new jobs.

Plank's resignation led to the hiring of Feeley, who had been considered in the original search. Spraragen had already moved to Seattle when she was informed of Plank's resignation. The call from Feeley brought her back east, to her new position.

Former assisant coach Sue Johnson has accepted a post at Boston University.

With the help of Spraragen, Feeley will be shooting for an Ivy League title, as Princeton returns five out of five starters from last year's squad, which finished 15-11.

Can A Performance Sedan Really Be This Luxurious?

Chrysler LHS

Take a seat. If you still have any doubts whether luxury and performance can be combined in one car, brace yourself. This is Chrysler LHS. A car that is by no means the typical, run-of-the mill luxury sedan. Beneath its graceful curves lies an authoritative 24 valve engine, the road holding stance and extra roominess of cab-forward engineering and the luxurious comfort of leather-trimmed seating. Slip behind the wheel. Sit back. And hold on to your seat. • 214 horsepower engine • Fully independent suspension • Dual air bags • 4 wheel disc anti-lock brakes • Computerized low speed traction control • Power windows • 8 way power driver's seat • Air conditioning with automatic temperature control • Power windows and door locks • Cruise control • 16-inch cast aluminum wheels records, and all three play on Wednesday, none against each other.

Should the teams finish in a three-way tie with 10-2 records, league organizer Doug Snyder says, tournament seeding will be done on the basis of head-to-head records.

Even judging that way, the decision will be a tough one. If the teams are judged by their records against each other, things might pan out this way: Tiger's Tale gets the top seed, with a 2-1 record, having beaten DATAN twice and lost to Top This; Top This is second, with a t-1 record, having beaten Tiger's Tale and lost to DATAN; DATAN is number three, at 1-2, having beaten Top This and lost twice to Tiger's Tale.

Confusing? Yes. DATAN can make a ease for a better rating than Top This, after besting them in head-to-head competition.

Going into Wednesday night's slated action, Snyder is undoubtedly praying that the matter will be settled on the court, which is a distinct possibility. Tiger's Tale and Top This are both playing against teams that have beaten them in the past.

The first game of the evening, at 7 p.m., will pit Tiger's Tale against Sam P. Electric. It was Sam P. that gave Tiger's Tale its first entry in the loss column, when they pulled out a surprise 51-48 victory on June 28.

DATAN and Bunzl square off in the second game. In their first meeting, DATAN crushed Bunzl, 51-26.

The nightcap will feature the Top This players attempting to revenge themselves on SMB. who humbled them 63-49 last month.

The tournament will kick off on Friday, with the top team in the league getting a bye through the first round.

Teams eight and nine will face off in the first game, followed by a match between the second place squad and the seventh place squad. The nightcap will pit the third place team against the sixth place team.

The field will be narrowed to two teams by continuing elimination play on Monday and Tuesday. The first game of the three game championship will be played on Wednesday, August 7. .

Last Week's Action

Friday's games almost began with a default, as three Sam P. players piled out of a car several minutes after gametime to round out the five-man roster.

Perhaps a little more warm-up time might have helped: Alberto Baptiste's 25 points led SMB to a 69-44 win over Sam P. Keith Jones had 11 points and Ray Gregory had 10 for the winners. Eric Kirton led Sam P. with 19 points, including four three-pointers. Brandon McEwen scored 15.

Bunzl held off Dr. Von DerSchmidt 56-49 in the second game, as Mike Parrish had 17 and Geoff Card scored 15. For Dr V., Curtis Goines had 14 and Ray Ferguson had 13.

---

Cassavell disposed of Princeton Youth Sports 48-33 in the nightcap. Bob Cassavell, returning from an injury, was good for 23 points.

For PYS, Ott Phanthavong scored 15 points, including three three-pointers.

Monday's opener saw Top This top Cassavell, 66-51. Rick Lloyd scored 21 for Top This, followed by Mike D'Allegro with 17 and Rich Simkus with 15. The ex-Princeton University star also grabbed 12 rebounds and had four assists.

For Cassavell, Mark Peterson and Mike Goodson each scored 19. Bob Cassavell had 10.

The game of the night was Tiger's Tale against DATAN. It was a battle, but Tiger's Tale managed to complete their regular season sweep of DATAN, winning 69-65. Cousins Darius and Fred Young led the winners, with 22 and 17 points, respectively. Leon Newsome scored 13, and Wade Hall banged in 10.

For DATAN, Anthony Weathers and James Ford had 16 apiece. Courtney Fitch scored 15, and Kirk Webber had 10.

In the nightcap, a battle of the league's two winless teams, it was Dr.V., breaking into the win column with a 75-49 decision over PYS.

Ray Ferguson had 19, while Goines and Lamar Kelsey had 18 each.

Dawud Towler had 14 for PYS, and Wanza Carter scored 13.

How will she see herself?

How will your daughter's self-image reflect her education in years to come? Self-esteem that is expressed in leadership qualities, self-worth that recognizes that there's work to be done, and self-knowledge that helps a girl feel confident in herself and others: these are the reflections of success at Stuart.

Whether your daughter grows to see herself as a rocket scientist or a rock star, a salesperson or sail maker, a homemaker or home builder, she'll get the preparation that's truly crucial at Stuart. A clear-eyed optimistic spirit pervades Stuart, creating an ideal atmosphere for the rigorous academics that are central to the experience. It's a spirit that yields children of joy, women of substance. Visionaries.

If you'd like to learn more about Stuart, call Anne Pierpont, Director of Admissions at 609-921-2330.

OBITUARIES

Elizabeth C. Rosner, 37, of Greenwich, Conn. and Princeton, died July 20 in New York Hospital after a three-year battle with cancer.

Ms. Rosner grew up in Princeton, attending Littlebrook, the Middle School and Princeton High School. She graduated from Cornell University and built a successful career in financial services. She was a vice president at Citicorp and at Shearson-Lehman and most recently vice president for strategic planning, U.S. Region, for MasterCard International in New York City.

Daughter of the late Dr. Benjamin Rosner, she is survived by her mother, Dr. Frieda Rosner of Princeton; a brother and sister-in-law, Robert and Cecile Rosner of Greenwich, Conn.; a sister and brother-in-law, Michele and Bill Saunders of Cliffside Park; her fiance, James Wells of Greenwich; her maternal grandparents, Betty and James Chira of New York City; and a nephew.

The service was held Sunday at the Jewisb Center of Princeton. Interment was in Beth Israel Memorial Cemetery, Woodbridge. Memorial contributions may be made to institutions furthering cancer research and development.

Genesio Pinelli, 82, died July 25 at the Robert Wood Johnson University Hospital, New Brunswick.

Born in Pettoranello, Italy, he lived in New York City and Princeton for 67 years.

Mr. Pinelli was a small businessman in New York City, and a stationary engineer with a Black Seal license in Princeton. He worked for Palmer Square, Inc., until his retirement in 1975. He was a landscaper, specializing in roses, and was the personal groundskeeper for 36 years for Mr. and Mrs. William H Scheide of Princeton.

Mr. Pinelli was a member of the International Union of Operating Engineers, Local 68; St. Paul's Church of Princeton; La Societa de Roma Eterna, and the Princeton Italian American Sportsmens' Club.

He is survived by his wife Antoinetta; three sons and two daughters-in-law, Gene Jr., at home; Vic and Marsha Pinelli of Hamilton Township; and George and Frances Pinelli of Princeton; two sisters, Filomena Rossi of Lawrence Township and Rosa De Santis of Rome, Italy; one brother, Giro Pinelli of Montreal, Canada; three grandchildren; a great grandson and many nieces and nephews.

Calling hours will be Friday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 at the Mather-Hodge Funeral Home, 40 Vandeventer Avenue.

Mass will be celebrated Saturday at 9:30 at St. Paul's Church. Burial will follow at St. Mary's Mausoleum, Cedar Lane, Hamilton Township.

Memorial contributions may be made to the American Diabetes Association, PO Box 6423, Bridgewater 08807, or the American Heart Association, Central Regional Chapter, 77 Tamarack Circle, Montgomery Knolls, Skillman 08558.

Joyce M.W. Barber, 78, died July 20 at Somerset Medical Center after a nine-year battle with cancer.

Born in Fordingbridge, Hampshire, England, she taught school, worked in the Anglican Diocese of Salisbury and served in the Royal Army Pay Corps of the British Army during World War II. At war's end she was employed in business and hospital work. After immigrating to the United States, she was engaged in office work in the fields of medicine, business and law.

Miss Barber was an active member of All Saints' Episcopal Church in Princeton for nearly 30 ycars. She was assistant treasurer of the church, treasurer of Episcopal Church Women, a lay reader and a member of the Altar Guild, Flower Guild, Choir and Ushers' Guild. Her other interests included music, art and needlework.

Choral music played an important role in her life. Beginning as a member of the Salisbury Musical Society, a 300-member choir conducted by Sir David Willicks, she sang with choirs in Britain and the U.S., until a few years before her death.

Surviving are a brother and his wife, the Rev. and Mrs. Ewart Barber of Gloucester, England; and her sister, Mrs. Marie Lyden of Maine, as well as several nephews, nieces, greatnewphews and great-nieces.

A memorial service will be held Saturday, August 5, at 10 at All Saints' Church, All Saints' Road. Funeral arrangements are being handled by Kimble Funeral Home, and interment will be private.

Memorial contributions in her name may he made to the American Cancer Society 3076 Princeton Pike, Lawrenceville 08648.

Ruth Steele Jennings, a Princeton resident since 1984, died July 19 at the Merwick Unit of Princeton Medical Center.

Born in 1916 in West Liberty, Ky., she completed high school at night in Columbus, Ohio after the early death of her parents. Following her marriage to Charles W. Jennings, from whom she was divorced in 1950, she served in the Marine Corps during World War II.

---

Mrs. Jennings moved to Tucson, Ariz., in 1954, where she worked for more than 20 years as executive secretary and office manager for Murphey Investment Trust. An avid sports fan, she was active in local politics, serving as a Republican Committeewoman and volunteer for many years.

Surviving are her son, Michael W. Jennings and his wife Susan Constant Jennings, a grandson and a granddaughter, all of Princeton; a brother, Robert Steele, and a sister, Sally Uffner, both of Columbus, Ohio.

A memorial service was held at Merwick. Burial was in Princeton Cemetery. Arrangements were under the direction of Kimble Funeral Home.

Contributions in her memory may be sent to the Merwick Unit, c/o Princeton Medical Center Foundation, 253 Witherspoon Street, Princeton 08540.

Elvira Houston Jones, 97, a former Princeton resident, died July 7 at Portola Place residential care facility in San Mateo, Calif.

Born in Roanoke, Va., Miss Jones spent her early life in Lexington, Va. She was educated in Lexington public schools, Longwood College in Farmville, Va., and at Columbia University where she received her master's degree in history in 1930. She began her career as a teacher in Buchanan, Va. and then in Covington, Va., where she was also assistant principal. Later she taught in private and public schools in Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island.

Her interest and concern for underprivileged chidlren led her to leave teaching and take up social work because she felt she could be of more value in this field. She was especially interested in children's institutions and held executive positions at the Sheltering Arms in New York City, the Children's Community Center of New Haven, Conn., and Newark Home for Foster Care in Newark.

Miss Jones retired in 1960 and took up residence in Princeton where she lived for more than 33 years. She was a member of Trinity Church, the Historical Society of Princeton, the American Association of University Women, the Women's College Club of Princeton and the Colonial Dames of Virginia.

In 1994 she left her residence at Elm Court and moved to San Mateo, Calif.

Sister of the late Marion J. Merritt and G. Alexander Jones Jr., she is survived by a godson whom she raised, Robert C. Bennett of San Mateo, Calif., and four grandchildren.

Interment and private graveside services were held at Stonewall Jackson Cemetery, Lexington, Va.

Marian Wible, 74, died July 20 at Bucks County Hospital, Warminster, Pa. Born in Princeton, she lived in Princeton all her life.

Mrs. Wible was a member of St. Paul's Catholic Church Golden Agers and Court Moran 378, Catholic Daughter of America.

Daughter of the late Libera and Vincenzo Sculerati and mother of the late Kenneth A. Wible Jr., she is survived by her husband, Kenneth A. Wible Sr.; two daughters, Patricia Amalfitano of Rocky Hill and Sandra Wible of Miami, Fla.; a son, John W. Wible of Warminster, Pa.; two sisters, Angelina Diaforli and Josephine Tessein, both of Princeton; a brother, Vincent J. Sculerati of New Brunswick; and many nieces and nephews.

A Mass of Christian Burial was celebrated Monday at St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church, followed by burial in the parish cemetery. Arrangements were under the direction of Kimble Funeral Home.

CARRYING A TORCH: It was announced on Sunday that Princeton Township and Princeton Borough are on the route of the Olympic Torch Relay, which will be held prior to the 1996 games in Atlanta. The Princetons were presented with a symbolic flag on Monday, by the United Way and event sponsor Coca-Cola. From left, Jim Jeffers and Len Erlanger, of Coca-Cola; Township Mayor Michele Tuck; Bill Sloane, great-grandson of Professor William M. Sloane, one of the founders of the modern day Olympics; Borough Mayor Marvin Reed; Craig Lafferty, president of the Greater Mercer County United Way.

Olympic Torch

"Princeton has always produced Olympic athletes, and has also served as a training center for Olympians" he said.

Mayor Tuck said that she was "honored, on behalf of Princeton Township. I think we have a lot of local heroes."

A joking Mayor Reed pointed out that, because elected officials are precluded from running in the torch relay, "I won't be going into training any time soon."

Mayor Tuck demurred also, saying that her "bad knees" wouldn't let her run in any case.

Much Local History

Although only one of more than 300 cities, towns, and villages through which the torch will pass, Princeton stands out with a special significance.

The torch relay will leave Route 206 briefly, to make a special stop at Witherspoon Street cemetery. Buried there is Professor William Sloane, one of the founders of the modern Olympic Games, and for many years their staunchest American supporter.

Present at the flag ceremony on Monday, was the great-grandson of Professor Sloane, William Sloane, of Ewing.

Professor Sloane was a history scholar at Princeton University, who lived and worked for much of his life in Princeton. His major work was a four-volume history of the French Emperor Napoleon, which stood as the definitive work on the subject for 40 or 50 years.

According to Mr. Sloane, his ancestor became friendly with a Frenchman, Baron Pierre de Coubertin, whose ambition it was to resurrect the ancient Olympic Games.

In Professor Sloane, de Coubertin found a useful trans-Atlantic ally. The two men worked together, eventually organizing the first modern Olympics in Athens, in the year 1896.

Organized First Team

Professor Sloane also organized the first U.S. Olympic team, which was, not surprisingly, made up largely of Princeton graduates and students.

"The University wouldn't let them practice on campus," said Mr. Sloane, "they considered it 'ungentlemanly.' "

He went on to describe how his ancestor found a school for girls in Cherry Hill which allowed the athletes to train on its grounds. The headmistress of the school even made the uniforms for the athletes.

When their training was finished, said Mr. Sloane, the Professor felt obligated to the headmistress for all of her help. "He asked what he could do to repay her," said Mr. Sloane, "and she said 'I hope that you will use your influence to see that women can take part in the games.' "

True to his word, Professor Sloane took up the cause of women athletes. It was in the Stockholm games of 1912, which were organized under Professor Sloane's direct supervision, that women were first allowed to compete.

Professor Sloane remained dedicated to the Olympics throughout his life. He was the first president of the United States Olympic Committee, served as president of the International Olympic Committee, and was a member of the U.S. Committee until his death in 1928.

REAL ESTATE AND YOU

By Tod Peyton

MAKING THE MOST OF YOUR STRUCTURAL INSPECTION

Many home buyers today are investing in a professional structural inspection before they finalize their purchase of a home. You should choose your inspector carefully and be prepared to learn important facts about your new home that could save you money.

When you have a ratified sales agreement, the Realtor will set up an appointment for you to see the home with the inspector.

Even though you will get a written report of the inspection, you should bring a notebook. Write down any questions or concerns that may occur to you as you go through the house, such as cracks in the walls, spots on the ceiling, or noises in the air conditioning system. As you go through your new home with the inspector, remember that no house is perfect. You should come away from the inspection with a good understanding of what you are buying and how much the maintenance will cost.

For dependable, individual advice on buying or selling real estate, call Tod Peyton, Realtor or any Peyton Associate at 921-1550. Feel free to stop by my office at 343 Nassau Street in Princeton.

PONDER THIS PRINCETON: 1. A few years ago several Borough Police officers investigated the scene of an assault, yet, there's neither a detailed description nor photos of same. Why? 2. When it's proven that a resident's civil and constitutional rights have been grossly violated by local authorities, what will you do? 3. Are you aware that by not fighting to protect another's rights from a known violation you are disowning one of America's most cherished principles? You really are obligated to do otherwise! Presented for your enrichment by Gary S. Grover.

Monthly payments are for 30-year conventional fixed rate mortgages as detailed below. Please ask about: Lower Downpayments · Lower Monthly Payments · Other Options.

For purchase prices up to $253,937, monthly mortgage payments (principal+interest) quoted in our ads are to qualified buyers, based upon a 20% downpayment and a conventional 30-year fixed rate loan at 7.625% with 3 points, A.P.R. 7.94%. As an example, a $100,000 loan would mean 360 monthly payments of $707.80. For purchase prices from $253,938 to $625,000, the monthly payments are to qualified buyers based upon a 20% downpayment and calculated at 7.625% with 3 points on a "Jumbo" 30-year fixed rate mortgage with an A.P.R. of 7.94%. An example of a $500,000 loan would mean 360 monthly payments of $3,538.97. Figures herein are approximate and do not include property taxes, hazard insurance, or homeowners association dues. For a 30-year conventional fixed rate mortgage, interest rates quoted are as of May 18, 1995, and subject to change. Not responsible for typographical errors; while information is believed accurate we request that the payment be validated with a mortgage provider prior to purchase.

HOUSE OF THE WEEK

HISTORIC DISTRICT

Take a bridge over a picturesque brook, drive up a gentle hill, and fall in love with this stately white-pillared Colonial. It truly is a "must see"! Completely renovated and redecorated, it has living room and dining room with pretty moldings and French doors, a morning room with cathedral ceiling, and a large kitchen/breakfast room with beautiful imported tile floor. Four bedrooms and a lower level with family room, study and half bath give plenty of room for varied activities. This wonderful light-filled house has the advantage of being next to Princeton's Parkside neighborhood and close to the beauty of Battlefield Park.

NEW LISTING

Contemporary — A style of architecture that combines the generous use of natural wood and glass to create an interesting floor plan. This handsome house, with cedar siding, was designed by Hillier and is a beautiful example of how successful this can be. A uniquely landscaped entry way introduces the foyer and the spectacular living and dining rooms. Lofty cathedral ceilings rise to 24' and high clerestory windows actually can open. Glass walls open to a covered deck and a fireplace graces the living room. The superb kitchen and breakfast area have cheerful accents of a pumpkin color. On second floor, a luxurious master bedroom and bath, two family bedrooms and bath. Built on a hillside, two lower levels flow with the land and are completely above ground. One, is a huge studio with the desired northern light. The other, has a large family room opening to a covered terrace, and a guest room with bath. A sparkling pool adds summer enjoyment. All on 2½ beautiful acres secluded by mature specimen and fruit trees on scenic Bayberry Rd. in Hopewell Township just minutes from Princeton. $450,000
